

ADHD Australia Website - Terms of Use

Site Access Terms of Use

By accessing ADHD Australia website you agree that the terms and conditions outlined below will apply to your usage of the site.

Our Terms of Use may change from time to time without notice and any changes will take effect immediately. By accessing the ADHD Australia site following any amendment will constitute the agreement that you will comply with and be bound by the amended Terms of Use. Please review this policy on a regular basis and be aware of any changes and the importance of abiding by our Terms of Website usage.

General disclaimer

ADHD Australia, to the extent permitted by law, will not be held liable to anyone for loss or damaged indirectly, or directly affected in connection with use of this Website regardless as to whether by direct or indirect means. This general disclaimer also applies to any other organisations linked from the ADHD Australia website.

Warnings or disclaimers that are specific in nature

Any information contained on this website has been provided to us on an “as is” basis and in good faith. Every effort has been made to confirm that all information is accurate and current as at the date of inclusion on the site. ADHD Australia or their representatives makes no representation or warranty as to the completeness of such information. This information contained on this site does take the place of professional advice specific to your circumstance and you should not act on the basis of anything contained on this site. This site does not take the place of a medical practitioner and acts as an information tool only.

For any damage, interference caused to you or any other persons computer systems by using this website or any linked websites ADHD Australia will not be held liable to you or anyone. It is your responsibility to apply your own precautions to ensure that any interaction from this website is free from viruses and other malicious or damaging online contaminations. It is your responsibility to ensure your computer systems are fully protected.

ADHD Australia may change/add or remove content or the Website from time to time without notice. However, we do not guarantee that we will keep the website updated and will not be liable to you or anyone else if information on this website is not updated or creates/generates errors.

You must ensure that any access to this Website is not for illegal purposes or prohibited by the applicable laws of your location.

Your use of ADHD Australia website

As a condition of accessing our Website, you agree not to use this Website for any purpose that prohibited by these Terms of Use. This is your agreement that you will not:

- ◆ Access this website for any behavior that would be deemed bullying or offensive.
- ◆ Publication of unlawful and offensive behavior.
- ◆ Pretend or imitate another person other than yourself or entity;
- ◆ Duplicate any material from the website that you do not have explicit permission to copy.
- ◆ Access the website for improper purposes or attempt to destroy the functionality of hardware or software.